GENESI PROGETTUALE - PROJECT GENESIS

Lugano is one of the most popular resorts in Switzerland. The city attracts many tourists with its picturesque nature, classical architecture, rich culture and history. The heart shape of a scallop, where its pearl is the city itself. Thus, the park embodies the significance and importance of the small town of Lugano for the whole country.

The idea of the park is aimed not only at people, but also at nature. This is how the topic of pollution of the Earth with plastic waste is touched upon. The project provides for the use of plastic garbage in the construction of the park, where its volume of the total volume of structures reaches 50%. The project also provides for the cultivation of floating plants in the park, which will clean the lake.
